THE WEST PENN O. K

The Hospital to Get Its Much Needed $50,000 Appropriation

UNLESS BEAVER VETOES THE BILL

A Chat With Directors, Showing How Essential State Aid Is.

A BIG MORTGAGE AND IMPROVEMENTS

Much anxiety has been shown hereabouts for the long pending bill to appropriate $50,-000 from the State for the West Penn Hospital. It passed second reading last Saturday, and finally passed the Senate yesterday, through the instrumentality of Representative J. L. Graham.

The bill encountered several obstacles, on account of some technical shortcomings in the initial drawing up of it, and, after it had passed the last Legislature, Governor Beaver vetoed it, as falling with the revenue bill. It has been before the House twice this session, but in a different form from the first one presented.

The whole fact of the matter, as stated by one of the directors to a DISPATCH writer, was the misunderstanding of the situation relative to the appropriation and reasons for such a move on the part of the hospital

IT NEEDS TO BE PREE OF DEBT. There is a mortgage of some $50,000 against the property, the interest of which has taken $3,000 yearly from the profits which would have found use in paying off pressing indebtedness for the maintenance of the institution, such as groceries, drugs, etc. This year $65,000 per annum was asked for, and it would take two years at this rate to pay for needed improvements, etc. The reason, it is thought, for the first defeat of the bill was dependent on personal contingencies arising between certain people interested. However, a new bill was prepared with a preamble explaining matters, and it has met with favor so far; the only necessary thing to es-tablish it being the adding of the Governor's when the latter was in Pittsburg recently he wisited the West Penn, and was very much pleased with the goings-on of the institution. Said one of the West Penn directors:

IT WAS MADE CLEAR. When I was down East recently I explained the whole affair, and showed the necessities to one of the members of the State Appropriation Committee. He rejoined by saying there was no explanation necessary, as he had visited the hospital, and was convinced that it was the most beneficial in the country, considering the mount of money it had to sustain itself. Several other members of the Legislature within earing indersed him. .
"We are serely in need of a women's ward.

Say, for instance, a female is brought in with a virulent fever; she is placed in the same a virtuent fever; she is placed in the same apartment with one who is, perhaps, convalescent from some other aliment, rendering her subject to further disease."

Mr. William McCreery, one of the directors who has been untiring in his efforts for a favorable ultimatum of the bill, was extremely well satisfied for the reason that a great weight has been taken off the hospital and its successful management.

FUTURES IN OIL.

Dealing in Options Recommended by Oil Exchanges.

Officers of the petroleum exchanges at New York, Bradford, Oll City, Titusville and Pittsburg held a meeting in this city yesterday afternoon. Mr. C. L. Wheeler, of sdford, presided, and Captain Barbour acted is Secretary. The object of the gathering was to discuss a proposition to introduce into the oil trade "dealing in futures." The meeting was held at the Exchange build-ing after the close of the market. In the ad-resses that were made there was a general decling manifested in favor of the innovation. One argument produced in its favor was that it will reduce the high premiums paid now on oil. Another argument is that dealing in options will draw into the trade many people not now identified with it. The reason of this is that at present oil certificates are too scarce. One broker made the statement that in the past mouth he could have done a business of 1,000,000 barrels more than he did had he been sure he could supply the certificates, but he was not. With "intures" the certificates could only be cornered perhaps once in a month, whereas now they can be cornered every few days.

It was decided to recommend the plan to the directors of all the exchanges. It will be placed before them in a business-like manner, and after its advantages are discussed in each of the cities, the various exchanges will vote on the question of adoption. eling manifested in favor of the innovation, of the cities, the various canadages wan role on the question of adoption. New York, Oil City and Bradford favor the scheme most. There are quite a number of kickers here, but it is believed the project will eventually be favored in Pittsburg, too.

ANOTHER ON THE LIST.

An Old-Time Telegraph Messenger Bey of Pittaburg Becomes Governor of Utub. The news from Washington yesterday of the appointment of Arthur L. Thomas to the Governership of Utah brings many leasant recollections of that Pittsburg boy to those who knew him in this city 20 years ago. It was about that time, in the late 60's, that Arthur was messenger boy to the Associated Press, whose office was then in THE DISPATCH building, on Fifth avenue. Captain Fullwood, now official stenographer to the courts, was then manager of the Associated Press; and Ar-thur Thomas was chief of the not-very-numerous night messenger service of the period. He is well remembered by such of the older genera-tion of newspaper men as are yet in harness as a modest, obliging little Welsh lad, who, in those days, when special wires were unknown in newspaper offices, and special telegrams few and far between, bore the most important freight of news that came into the offices.

Later, Arthur went to Washington as measured to a Congressional committee, through General Negley's influence, and there he prospered by the same qualities of fidelity and intelligence which made him a favorite as a bearer of press messages in Pittsburg. It was during President Hayes' administration that he was sent to Utah as Secretary of the Territory. His success there was notable, and he frequently filled the place of acting Governor and got out State papers in a style which showed that his observation of the energy and system of the carly newspaper workers in Pittsburg was not unprofitable. Afterward he was made one of the Utah Election Commission at a salary of $5.000 per annum, and now he is Governor of the Territory, with the possibilities of everything from the United States Senate to the Presidency before him.

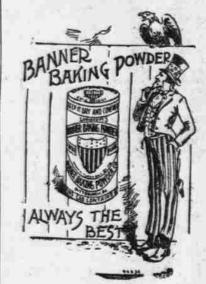

Thus is another distinguished addition made to the list of the successful men who started in life in this city as telegraph boys. Andrew Carnegie, Robert Pitcairn, David McCargo, City Solicitor Moreland, are some of the list, though these belonged to a generation even before that of Thomas. The father of Utah's new Governor was long a well-known Alderman of the Sixth ward, Pittsburg. a modest, obliging little Welsh lad, who, in

We advertise inducements which our competitors think impossible. Do you won-der? We don't. These same firms go East and buy tenement-house-made auction goods and offer them to the public at prices for which you can buy the home-made clothing at Jackson's. The inducement referred to is simply this: Making our clothing as we do, we guarantee to keep in repair, free of charge, for the term of one year, any suit costing $10 or over, or any pants bought of us for $3 or more. If there is any need of repairing, bring them to us and we will do it free of charge. Let the clap-trap advertising con-cerns follow if they can. They don't want trouble; it is your money they are after. But the public is not slow in finding the best makes of clothing. Our tailoring department distances anything in this line.
